

Bridging the Divide Through Music and Poetry @ William Hall

Featuring:

The Winners from Notable Works' 2025 Poetry Contest which focuses on Bridging the Divide created by misinformation, labeling and stereotyping as it pertains to our environment and social concerns.

Also:

Concert Performance of Songs from Notable Works' new Musical "Sell Division"
Music by Noreen Inglesi and Mary Zema

Saturday, May 3, 2025
11 AM

William Hall Library Auditorium
1825 Broad Street Cranston, RI 02905

FREE ADMISSION

Handicapped Accessible

Pre-Reservation Available- Not Required
<https://events.cranstonlibrary.org/event/13004740>

Complimentary
Refreshments

www.notableworks.org

Directions to the William Hall Library Auditorium in Cranston
(1825 Broad St, just up from Pawtuxet Village)

From 95 going north. Take the route 10 exit and take the right fork and then turn right onto Elmwood Avenue. You will come to a light and turn left onto Park Ave. go about a mile or so. You will go by a fire station on the left at a big intersection. Keep going straight. Follow Park Ave to where you must turn left or right. Turn to the left and the William Hall Library is set back from the street on your left about $\frac{1}{4}$ mile from where you turned left onto Broad St. The entrance to the library is just passed the library sign again on your left. Drive in and park in the back of the library and walk towards the library building from your car. The auditorium ramp is on your left in the back of the building and goes up the side of the library building and into the auditorium.

Going South on 195 towards New York. Take the Cranston Street exit. Do not take the first exit off that exit. Take the next exit which is the Park Ave. exit off the Cranston Street exit further down. Stay to the left on route 10 and turn left onto Park Ave. That is a dead-end and you have to turn left or right. Turn left. Go straight for about a mile or so. You will go by a fire station on the left across the street at a big intersection. Keep going straight. Follow Park Ave to where you must turn left or right. Turn to the left and the William Hall Library is set back from the street on your left about $\frac{1}{4}$ mile from where you turned left onto Broad St. The entrance to the library is just passed the library sign again on your left. Drive in and park in the back of the library and walk towards the library building from your car. The auditorium ramp is on your left in the back of the building and goes up the side of the library building and into the auditorium.